The former was fifteen months in hed under several physicians; the latter, sick for years with discass of the somethand & duesa. In Moreor co. I refer to Mr. John Finnell, Mr. Brewer, Thomas Smithy, John Smithy, James Smithy, and others; post-office, Salvisa. Also, Mrs. William Dodds and Miss Mary Dodds, Pleasant Hill, Ky.; Richard Burks, and Flowl Burks, llarrodshurg, Ky. The wife of William Roach was sick for perhaps twenty years with sick headnehe; post-office, Salvisa, K. I refer, also, to Jeptha Elliston, Esq., Kuobnoster, Missant.

The above were either sick themselves, or their parties were for months and years in bed, cured in a few weeks.

These cures may seem incredible, but here are the names; and it my should write to me. I will refer them to thousands all over the land. Reader Ido not send you out to be the Kenticky to find them. I direct you to the most respectable citizens of the Stree and if you are still incredations, write to me, and I will satisfy you. Female Diseases can be cured in a few days. Is all cases, I expect the patient to write to me every few days. I will have an agent in this city in a day or two, and any person who may want to see me will get all necessary information from the gentlemanly proprietor of Owen's Hotel, where I niways stop when in the city. To my friends from the country, espicially, Mr. Owen will take special pains in giving every information; and, as I have given up all netive practice, and follow only an office business, and being in daily communication with the city, it will be much better for those who may wish to consult me, to stop at the above house.

And now, before I close, I would state that I use water in connection with medicine in the treatment of diseases; and, in some diseases, I find the water at my springs, at Graefenburg, very valuable, It This water has been tested by Professer Owens, and found to be very good.

In one aspect in the hands of the people a change has taken of the case it would seem that almost any place, and yet public confidence is unshaken half-way position would be preferable to the in the integrity of the bench, and we believe downright Black Republicanism of Lincoln, that it is as ably filled to-day as it has been But we must not forget that there is great for years, and none the worse for not being wisdom in the old adage that an open enemy appointed by the Executive. The advocates is better than an inneertain friend. But in this we fear we may be mistaken.

We dissent from Judge Douglas upon the following position taken by him in his bred Horses, &c. Freeport speech:

"The next question Mr. Lincoln propoun led special Colt premiums, to me is, "Can the people of a Territory exclude Third day, (Thursd slavery from their limits by any fair means be fore it comes into the Union as a State answer emphatically, as Mr Lincoln has heard me answer a hundred times, on every stump in Illinois, that in my opinion the people of a Terri tory can by lawful means exclude slavery be-fore it comes in as a State. * * No matler what may be the decision of the Sapren Court on that abstract question, still the right of the people to make it a slave Territory or a tree Territory is perfect and complete under the Nebraska bill. * * * In this comexion I will notice the charge that he has renewed against ane about the Chase amendment. * * * * * Now the Nebraska bill provided that the legisla tive power a d authority of the said Territory should extend to all rightful subjects of legisla tion consistent with the organic law and the constitution of the United States. It did not make any exception of slavery, but gave all the power that it was possible for Congress to give, without violating the constitution, to the territorial le islature, with no exception on the subject of sla very at all. Hence that bill, in and by itself gave to the people of the Territory the full power and the full authority over the subject of slavery, negative and affirmative, to introduce or exclude, so far as the constitution of the I nitra State would permit. What more could Mr. Chase give by his amendment? * * * * His amendment was to this effect, that the legisluture should have the power to exclude slavery.

We cannot reconcile the position here taken by Judge Douglas with the Democratic platform, nor with the following extract from the decision of the Supreme Court in the Dred from twenty-one to thirty-three per cent .-- or,

"If Congress itself cannot do this -- if it is bement-it will be admitted, we presume, that it could not authorize a territorial government to violate the provisions of the constitution.

"And if the constitution recognizes the right to be paid for anæsthesia? of property of the master in a slave, and makes no distinction between that description of property and other property owned by a citizen, no tribunal, acting under the authority of the United States, whether legislative, executive, or judicial, has a right to draw such a distinction. or deny to it the the benefit of the provisions and guarantees which have been provided for the prosection of private property a joinst the encrouchments of the covernment.

Mr. Douglas talks very much about his principles, as if he would draw a marked distinetion between them and the principles of the Democratic party. Upon the whole, we are inclined to think it quite uncertain as to what his action would be if he is returned to the Senate. We fear we can scarcely hope for his cordial co-operation with the Administration; and if we are to have his opposition, we confess we do not care to see him there. At the same time, we cannot bring ourselves to prefer that Lincoln should defeat him, although the opposition of Lincoln to the Deminjury than that of such a man as Douglas. Measures and not men is our motto; and f Douglas will not indorse our measures, he is not our man. We detest Lincoln and his whose excursions on horselack caused so much principles, and would sooner see Illinois un- excitement in London, has met the fate of represented than have such a Senator as he.

Mass Meeting.

At a meeting of the citizens of the counties of Boone and Kenton, held on the 28th day of August, 1858, in the town of Florence in Boone county, Ky., Capt. Jacob Shorts, of Boone, was called to the Chair, and Milton W. Graves, of Kenton, was appointed Secretary.

Whereupon the object of the meeting having been explained, Dr. S. S. Scott, of Boone, offered the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted, to-wit:

1. Resolved, That the recent action of Congress in relation to the admission of Kansas under the Lecompton Constitution, and the course pursued by a large majority of the members from the Northern States in relation to it, in our opinion, clearly indicate that the Union is in imminent danger of an early dissolution, and the States composng it of ciril war.

2. Resolved, That in our humble opinion the best means of preserving the "Union of the States," is a strict and faithful adherence to the letter and spirit of the Constitution; and the surest mode of preserving peace and harmony among the different sections, without which the "Union itself is comparatively valueness, is a ready acknowledgement of the rights of others, and a firm assertion and detense of our own.

3. Resolved, That in our belief those who framed the Constitution of the United States, were the best expounders of its provisions; and the surest guide to a correct interpretation thereof, is to be found in the habits and practices of the people during the earlier administrations of the Government. When the citizen of Massachusetts go with his printing press to Virginia or South Carolina, and there advocate the Abolition Slavery or the continuance of the African Slave trade, without fear of molestation State authority, or of personal is sult, or injury from mob violence; and the Southern planter could, with his slaves, traverse the entire country in any direction he thought proper, without the fear of Abolition, State Legislation, or abduction of his slaves by intermeddling fanatics. All hen believed that our common Constitution secured to the American citizen everywhere the had been attacked by fanaties, in consequence of largest liberty of speech and the press, and pro-teeled ham in the unrestrained enjoyment of whatever was recognized as property t, whether an African Slave or an Abolition Christians. rinting press, or whether it was held in Mas- dethrone the Sultan is confirmed ichuseits or Georgia.

4. Resolved, That it is the obvious construction, as it is the latter and spirit of the Federal Constitution, that the States composing the Union do hold and should exercise all the powers of government not electly delegated to the Gereial Government, or reserved to the indi-vioual citizen; and that while we admit that the Government, State or Federal, has the power o appropriate to its use the private property the public good, yet we maintain that no government has the power and say that it shall no longer exist in any particular subject, or to say that this morning, near this city, betwee the slave of a citizen shall go free, that is one of Wise and Sherrard Clemens. the rights reserved to the individual citizen.

Resolved, That it is the duty of the Federal government to maintain inviolate the person and property of the citizens of the several States from the aggressions of other States, or the citizens thereof, as it is alike its duty to protect fought successfully through two foreign wars; and establish and maintain the former carnestly and sincerely invoke all peaceful means; yet it must be done come what may, for without it the Federal Constitution, which every good citizen should berish as the apple of his eye, is in practice a the Pension office.

6. Resolved, That whilst we, as Kentuckians. are willing and do accord to our Northern brethren all the rights as citizens of the United States which we claim for ourselves, we most frankly and candidly declare that our interest, our feel ings and our sympathies are entirely with the them people and their construction of the ederal Constitution; and notwithstanding a few dividuals among us may sympathize with the North in its present position of antagonism to the spread of our peculiar institutions, yea with Abolitionism itself, yet the heart of Kentneky is as wholly Southern as any of her sister Southern States; and should a dissolution of the Union which Heaven forbid) result from agitation of the "rugged issue" of no more Slave States, and ar ensue, she will be found, as she ever has been, standing in the front rank of battle, her camp crown every hill-top, and her valiant sons will fill every valley from the Great Kana-wha on the east, to the Father of Waters on the west, and the shores of the beautiful Ohio will present one long line of bristling steel as an impassable barrier to an invading enemy.

7. Resolved, That in our opinion the Consti tution of the United States contains a pledge of the power of the Federal Government to secure to every American citizen the right to make his home where he may think proper; within the borders of that Union; and to protect him in the peaceful possession and enjoyment of any species ter Democrats than those of Trimble. I know of property, that is and was recognized as such within the United States at the time of the adop tion of the Constitution, and that no Legislative body has the power, without intringing upon that Constitution, to disturb these rights and use of property in any manner whatever nity is attached to an act of Congress because it 8th of January for the convention. I have talkis denominated a "Compromise," than to any other ostitutional act of Congressional Legislation, much less when such compromise act is unconstibased on the Constitution, reason, truth, and justing at all, you, and every one else, must know patriots, whilst those that are iniquitous, unjust, with farmers. They are repairing their fences, and unconstitutional, should share the fate of all The only compromises unsimilar cuactments. der which we are willing to live, and which we will always acquiesce and abide by, are to be lound in the Constitution itself, and none others and the money is in his pocket, his corn, wheat, are binding. The Congressional Compromies of the last forty years have been accomplished by unwarrantable concessions of Constitutional rights on the part of the South, in which the Constitution has been grossly violated, and sectional dom mation has triumphed over truth and justice. We deprecate the spirit which laments the repeal of that odious and unjust, as well as unconstitu-tional act, called the "Missouri Compromise."

9. Resolved, That we fully and cheerfully ap prove of and indorse the disinterested and im- Preston, and the Dempartial course of our patriotic Chief Magistr. te, in mission of Kansas into the Union under the compton Constitution," and that he is entitled to nationality of his sentiments on that subject, and for his exact justice to every section.

10. Resolved, That in our view justice and numanity require that this government, to the exten of its rightful power in the premises, she e tablish a protectorate over the Republic of Mexo, and by its influence and good example quell the discord and quiet the disturbances which are now distracting and depopulating that unhappy country; and that the resolution of inquiry that subject offered by Senator Houston in the United States Senute at its last session, deserved a more serious consideration at the hands of that had a wife."

august body than it received. 11. Resolved, That since Spain has for many years uniformly used her West India possessions, and especially the Island of Cuba as a means of harassing American commerce, and insulting the American Flug in violatian of the laws of Natio and persistently refusing us any indemnity for for our own self-protection and the preservation of our National honor, is to offer her a fair moneyed eonsideration as an inducement to a peaceful eession of the Island of Cuba, and upon her refusal, wrest it from her and incorporate it into our Union of States Resolved, That Capt. J. W. Leathers, II. T. Buckner, and S. S. [From the N. Y. Evening Post.] LAST OF A GREAT INSTITUTION.

On the very day on which we were engaged in the celebration of the laying of the Atlantic Telegraph, one of the most famous inthe first of this month the East India Company ceased to exist, and its vast possessions passed nominally, as well as really, into the hands of the Crown. When a company of traders not only maintains itself in existence Forney and the President--- The Grumbfor a century, but during that period manages to conquer two hundred millions of people by force of arms, and rule them by sheer weight of prestige, its demise is something over which the world may well pause and ponder. No modern history will ever now be written in which these tea and spice traders will not fill a larger space than any other conqueror or potentate save one, and if, as has been re-

One is astomided, in glancing over the hismost of their histre from their connection with its service. In this fact lies half the remance of this romantic story. As that awful in the colors that belong to discharged domestragedy, the catastrophe of which we witnessed last year, is played out before us, hetheir glory or in the maturity of their greatness, crowd the stage in every act. mightiest verators in modern days have deno other theme could have inspired; and soldiers have in its service outdone Roland at some other field for their talents. Forney Roncesvalles. There was hardly a great was an old aml confidential dependant on the man of that age of great men, "when George the Third was King," who has not done something to illustrate its annals. The first patch of land which might fairly be called "territoby the boldest and most brilliant of adven-It was in the service of these grocers and trafriendless boy, and he left it in a blaze of glotheir civilians, and Francis is now proved beyond any reasonable doubt to have been the very Junius who shewed as no man will ever shew again, what terrible facilities for fierce invective the English tongue supplies. It was in their service that Hastings passed the long and brilliant career which supplied materials for the famous trial in which Burke and Sheridan and Fox prosecuted, at which all the wits and beauties of the age looked on, and which Macaulay has described. Every incident of it was grand .-The pro-consul was another Verres, and one. at least, of the managers might have met Cicero, and have felt himself worthy of his It was in their service that Colonel Arthur Wellesly first showed signs of the happy sagarity which in after years won the bloody field of Vittoria, and stood its ground at Waterloo. Sir Charles Napier-"Old Charley"-fought for the Company in his very prime, annexed a whole Kingdom to its Empire-rivaled Clive at Mennee, then fought with his employers, and finally in his old age was called on to save it from the tulwars of Mr. John B. Haskin. Hine illie luchrymee, the Sikhs. Lord Gongh and Lord Hardinge What a pity it is that so few people of that both won their honors under its banners .-Lord Ellenborough became famous—as farmons as any man of his age-as its vicercy. Macaulay has served it, and venerated it .-Thackeray passed years of his youth in its dominions. Havelock fought for it for forty years, and at the last died for it. Mills has written its history as histories are rarely writ-

life. Few sovereigns have ever so grandly finished so grand a career. Nothing has been wanting to make its story the most subdime of the Oriental maxim, "to hear is to obey." rinto inquity or discurity by the slow process of decay, it has and sleek. He had a good place and an indisappeared

"Mid smoke and thunder, Shot and sleel and scorching flame,"

Two hundred thousand traitors rose upon it, and with a handful of the faithful, it turned and crushed them, and then disappears from the scene, while the applause of the world is still ringing in its ears.

There is one circumstance connected with this company which, probably more than all others, endeared it to the English people The company was essentially a middle class power. Its conquests were the conquests of the bourgeois. Its officers were the sons of traders, of lawyers, and of clergymen. Even the Queen's regiments, when they went to hidia, assumed a Democratic character. The sprigs of aristocracy did not relish the prospect of fighting in an atmosphere of 120 5, of panting on a bed all day and marching all night, of jungle fever and enlarged spleen. As soon as the turn of their regiment came to serve in India, they exchanged into others, remaining nearer home, and hundreds of poorer and more lowly-born aspirants, greedy of high pay, prize-money aml glory, marched eagerly into their places. Indian victories and Indian calamities therefore made themselves felt in aglish homes, in a way no other triumphs or reverses ever did. The "upper classes" revenged themselves by sneering at the Company, and consigning its officers to a position of inferiority; but they did not sneer when it came to hard fighting, and "Old Indians" were found to be the only men who thoroughly understood their work.

The successful result of the siege of Silistria, which gave the allies time to organize, and probably saved them in the last war from a disastrons action near Varna and a rapid advance of the enemy on Constantinople, was the work of two officers of the Company's troops; the artillery which did most to stem the hostile tide at Inkermann, was worked by a man who had learnt his trade on the banks of the Sutlej; and Williams was almost enabled to save Kars by the co-operation of a staff which belonged to the Indian service.

As a civil ruler, the Company had its faults, of course, and their name was legion. But its government of its distant possessions may well compare with that of the ministry at home of theirs. During the very same period that the former has taken to conquer Hindostan, the latter has lost the United States, and had to suppress an insurrection in Canada. Its main difficulty, and, in fact, its main defect, in dealing with the native princes and its own subjects, were that neither they nor it ever forgot its origin. It was still a trader in language and manner, though a large empire acknowledged its rule. In India where form has so much influence, these base the master to lash the slave that tarily stands where form has so much influence, these base like a stump in the field? We hope that the anticedents were a serious misfortune. Down to the very day on which the late minting broke out, the English Captain of the Guard in the palace of the Great Mogul, when summoned to his Majesty's presence, was never allowed to cross the threshold without marching over the court-yard without canopy or umbrella, under the full blaze of the sun, a don. After twenty-nine rounds, at the humiliation to which the pettiest officer of the ration of forty-eight minutes, Lynch was declared household was not subjected. A spectacle of the victor.

this sort was worth an army to the old dynasty, but it was one which a Queen's oflieer would not have consented to offer, and which no royal conqueror would have allowed. Now that the whole Territory has passed into the hands of the Crown, the shadow as well as the substance of power will pass into the hands lantic Telegraph, one of the most famous in-stitutions of the world ended its day. On all probability be the increased stability of their power, and, we would fairly believe, a deeper sense of responsibility.

lings of a Discharged Cook. It is a well known fact in social philosophy that discharged domestics rarely speak well of the establishments from which they have been turned off. They always have some fault to find with their quondam employer. Sometimes the fault is that he is not religions, or that he is not fashionable, or that he shees not see company enough, or that the wages marked, greatness lies mainly in the contrast are low and the service hard, or that the butchbetween the smallness of means and grandeur er's bills are kept down to the lowest possiof results, there has never been a conqueror ble ligure of economy—say seven dollars a half so deserving of renown. hing. It is a feature in the every-day comedy tory of this marvellous corporation, much less of "high life below stairs." And, therefore, by the magnitude of its achievements in its brief and chequered lifetime, than by the multhe cook and bottle-washer of Pierce's kitchtitude of great names which either derived en cabinet, and who subsequently held the same position for a short time in Mr. Buchanit, or laid the foundation for future greatness an's kitchen in the White House, should have shown himself, the other day, at Tarrytown,

No one can read the catalogue of comroes and statesmen, either in the first flush of plaints made by unfortunate Forney in his speech near Sleepy Hollow, without being struck by the identity which it bore to the grumldings of the plush-breeched Jeemses fended or assailed it with an eloquence which and Jenkinses who receive their month's wages in advance, with permission to find Sage of Wheatland. He entered it a domestics, treated as one of the family. But in Forney's rase, as in the case of many spoilry. Sir Philip Francis was for many years ed and pampered menials, this kind of treatment made him vain. He grew too big for his breeches. He forgot his position, and instead obeying his master, he presumed to dictate to him. Then came his fall. Mr. Buchanan knows too well the necessity of having a well managed household to tolerate impertinence on the part of any of his domestics. And so he said to his Man Forney, when he complained of some imagined mistake in the management of his honsehold, "Sir, if it satisfies me I think it may well satisfy you. Sir, if the change is pleasing to me I imagine you have no right to complain of it. But, sir, though should be sorry to part with a servant in whom I had such confidence, I can only say that if you are dissatisfied, you may go to my steward, get a month's wages in advance, and seek elsewhere a place that may be more in accordance with your new fangled notions.

That is the way Forney happened to be turnel adrift upon the world, and that is the eanse of all these grumblings he gave vent to the other day under the ordiard trees at Tarrytown, to a handfull of political friends of class can stand prosperity! The worst thing you can do for one of them is to exalt him of give him any idea of your high appreciation of him. It is almost sure to turn his head with vanity and lead him to make a fool of himself. Forney was in the habit of hearing and obeying such orders as these: "I will dine in Phil adelphia on Thursday, at one o'clock. Have a steak and onions ready for me." "llave the Aml then its death has been worthy of its carriage at the door in an hour." "Publish in everything went well with him. He grew lat dulgent master, and wanted for nothing. his original constitution was too weakly for such strong diet as he had. He "waxed fat and kicked " Kindness and indulgence produced pride. He fell into the error of thinking himself a great man, and the natural consequence was that Mr. Buchanan was obliged to turn him about his business. That is exactly the position of the past and present relations of Mr. Buchanan and his former chief of But badinage apart, this speech of Forney's conveys a very good idea of the state of the quarrel between the Administration and bolters. These miserable political wirepullers had the folly to think that because they could manage corrupt primary elections and caucusses, and State and general conventions, they therefore had a right to impose their views of national policy on the man who was raised by the suffrages of the people of the United States to the chief magistracy of the nation. They had the temerity and the presumption to expect that they would be able to make him a tool in their hands. But they were mistaken for once. * * *

* * He felt the responsibility * * * He felt the responsibility of his position, and so cut himself adrift from these miserable bucksters of party patronage. And now Douglas, and Haskin, and Forney, and their hangers on, go around the country exposing the confidential affairs of the establishment from which they were turned off, and calling on the people to sympathize with them in their distresses. But the common sense of the country only laughs at them .-They made their own bed, and they must be content to lie in it. As for the administration, it is impregnable to their puny popgnns, which are about as ridiculous and contemptible as an armament of Chinese stinkpots to the allied

D"If every stump in Kansas were a negro, every tree upon her soil a slave driver, and every to his daily toil, I would vote for the admission of Kansas under the Lecompton constitution." This infamous sentiment was uttered upon the stomp, a few days ago, by the Hon James Highes, the Indiana member of Congress, who chai-lenged a man for the avowed purpose of avoiding fight .- Louisville Journal. We doubt whether there is a Democrat in the Union who will refuse to indorse this "intamous Those Democrats who opposed sentiment." All of them would have voted for Lecompton, if the slaves in Kansas had been as numerous as the stumps, and the slave owners as numerous as the trees. In what respect is the sentiment infamous? ls it infamous because it recognizes the right of the master to lash the slave that lazily it infamous to whip free men for trying to vote.

Our Hopes.

Those who flatter themselves that we or the Democracy of Hardin, have despaired of ever witnessing a triumph of our principles in this county, are most sadly mistaken. Morphy Victorious-Another Match.

By the last arrival from England, we learn that Morphy, the champion chess player of the world, triumphed in his contest with Lowenthal. The game was brought to a termination on Aug. 21st, in the presence of a large and intensely inter-21st, in the presence of a large and intensely interested company. The Birmingham chess tournament has resulted (much to the surprise of the English chess world) in Herr Lowenthal's winning the first prizecircumstance that must do much to reconcile him to his loss of the match with Morphy. Mr. Stanuton, the great player, who so unsparingly criticised both Morphy and Lowenthal in the columns of the Illustrated London News, was beaten handsomely by the last named gentleman, who secred two straight games-thus winning the prize. Some time since, Herr Lowenthal was the habit of receiving the odds of the pawn and move, from Staunton, but now there seems to be but little difference between them; if any, they are in Lowenthal's favor. Mr. Morphy's feat of playing eight ldindfold games is astonishing all England Seven of them he won and one he lost. He is now in Paris, where he will play with Monsieur Harr-witz and other continental players. The match between Staunton and Morphy for $5,000 will be played in London, commencing the first week in November. In the meantime the young Ameriean has engaged to play a match of twenty-one games with Prof. Anderson, of Preslaw-suppos ed to be the best player in the world.

Letter from the President.

The President and Directors of the St. Louis Agricultural and Mechanical Association, as is well known, invited President Buchanan's attendance in that city during the Fair week. The Republican has been put in possession of the following letter from President Buchanan, in answer to the invitation:

Washington Chy, Friday, August 25. My DEAR Sia: I feel myself honored by the kind invitation of the Board of Directors of the We St. Louis Agricultural and Mechanical Association, to attend their annual Fair on the 6th Sep tember. I should esteem it a very great pleasure, indeed, as well as a high privilege, to be present on this interesting occasion, and to mingle with my fellow-citizens of the West, ever distinguished for their emergrise and their patriotism, on the banks of their own mighty river. It is, therefore, with deep regret that I am obliged to say that the variety and importance of the public business now pressing upon me render it quite impossible for me to be absent from Washington during so long a period as would be required to make a visit to St. Lonis. Cherishing the hope that at some luture day I may be able to enjoy this privilege, I remain,

Very respectfully, your friend, JAMES BUCHANAN. Hon. J. R. BARRET.

LADY EQUESTRIANS .- The display of female equestrians on Tuesday afternoon at the North Kentucky Fair, was an exciting spectacle, and drew from the immense crowd in attendance rounds of enthusiastic applanse.

The gallant judges were sadly puzzled to dedecide to whom should be awarded the palm of superiority. After an hour's riding-the running walk, the fox-trot, the rack, the pace, the lope &c., all being shown to the best advantage-the ladies were called in, and the blue ribons were tied, in the following order: To Miss Hunt was presented the $40 side-saddle; to Miss Middle ton, the $10 saddle; to Miss Howard, the $10 goblet. The judgment of the committee, consisting of Col. Roff, of New York, D. Ranyon, of Lexington, Dr. Moore, of Aberdeen, and Messrs. Herndon, Luttrell, Smoot, Forman, Parry, and Bacon, of Mason, was enthusiastically ratified by thousands of gratified spectators. Maysville Lagle.

IJ"lias the cable parted?" asks the New York Times, and then adds:

In traversing that wide reach of two thousand miles, how many a profound valley is that slen-der cord suspended across like the land wire be tween its posts? How many a rocky summit may it rest upon, swinging and wearing in currents and waves, in respect to which, after all assertions and pretended soundings of investigators, we really know nothing? How many submarine casuallies may it not be exposed to, of which we must be avowed that a strong probability of acci-dent to the wire does exist—strong enough, inunless a union is made. It says:

"Let the Republicans take the initiative in choly disappointment which its rupture must, if it tendering the olive branch. Let us offer on the occur, bring home to the universal sense.

FRANKFORT YEOMAN .- On Friday last, the weekly edition of this sterling Democratic paper appeared in a new dress and greatly enlarged, and is now one of our neatest exchanges. Ably edited, and published at the seat of government, tickets. As to the fear of alarming or offending the Republicans of European birth, it is sheer gammon. Gen. Walker and Nicaragua.

A letter from San Jose to the Aspinwall Liberal, says the Pennsylvanian, states that the whole object of the Nicaraguan and Costa Rican Governments in sending Jurez to this country, is to gain time, in order to allow M. Belly to consummate his arrungements with the French Gov-France. The letter says that his arrangement finds favor only with politicians-that the people of Niearagua are tired of the perpetual anarchy under which they live, and would welcome any change which would bring them deliverance .--The following is the concluding paragraph:

Had Monsieur Belly heen the most devoted friend of General Walker, he could not possibly have done him better service in Central Ameriea. There will certainly be no more opposition against the fibbusters from the United States. The Cabinets are now satisfied. D. B. Allen, the son-in-law of Vanderbilt, and the party which came with him, will leave by the Granada, which is expected here on the 20th; and as the Belly oupers were not made public in the States until after their departure, they entered Managua ig-norant of what Martinez and others had done and all parties now consider the appeal made by these governments, alhed, as a great insult to the States; and many who have heretofore most strenuously opposed Walker, would now be glad to see him back in the country, and believe that the best and most satisfactory as well as speedy nl' settling the Central American will be for the United States to send Walker and his followers back to Punta Arenas, from whence they were taken by Paulding. If the United States would do this, there need not be a single hife lost or a battle fought. As for myself, I expect to cat my next Christmas dinner in the capital of Nicaragna with Gen. Walker, the acknowledged head of affairs.

IT The Washington Union, in noticing Forney's reported conversations with the President, as reported by him in his Westchester speech, says:

Our purpose, however, was not to censure this statement for the want of honor implied in making it, but to denonnee it, as we now do most emphatically, for its unmitigated and total institu-tion of all honesty and truth. No such conversation took place, nor any conversation at all, between those parties on that subject. Mr. Furney never had the courage to address Mr. Buchanan in that strain, and he certainly had not the impudence to offer his advice to the man of whose personal character he had been the habitual traducer for months before Lecompton or anti Lecompton was thought of. The story he tells of the Calinet meeting, is like the account of his conversation, wholly fabulous.

Thus improved and perfected, it is believed that no other Universal History can compare with this, for the tullness and accuracy of its statements, the convenience of its arrangements, the clearness, simplicity and dignity of its style, for the consequent interest which it excites, and the valuable instruction which it impares, or for the durability and neatness of its mechanical excention.

It is believed that this work by Mr. Goodrich, will be very acceptable to the whole reading public. This is the result of years of toil and labor, assisted in his resourches by several scholars of known ability, and has been got up at a great expense by the pre-pretors. No pains have been spared in the execution of the Illustrations and Maps, which are entirely new, pre-pared by the distinguished author expressly for the work. Indeed, all the other historical writings of Mr. Goodrich sink into insignificance, when compared with this, the result of his riper and matner years,—It is admitted that One Handred Lodars could not purchase the same matter in any other shape; and the publishers confidently expect that, in consideration of the great liteary value of the work, the large sun expended in preparing it for the press, and the exceeding moderate price at which it is offered, that it will be favorably received to every lover of good books. ferences. LAWSCHOOL

Hon, Theorements Parsons, LLD., University Professor.

The course of instruction embraces the various branches of the Common Law; and of Equity; Admiralty; Commercial; International and Constitutional Law; and the Jurispudence of the United States. The Law Library consists of about 14,000 volumes, and as new works appear they are added, and every effort is made to render it complete.

Instruction is given by oral lectures and expositions, (and by recitations and examinations, in connection with them) of which there are ten every week. Two Moot Courts are also holden in each week, at each of which a cause, previously given out, is argued by four students, and an opinion delivered by the Presiding Instructor. Rooms and other facilities are also provided for the Club Courts; and an Assembly is held weekly for practice in debate, and acquiring a knowledge of parlimmentary law and proceedings.

Students may enter the School in any stage of their professional studies or mercantile pursuits, and at the commencement of either term, or in the middle, or other part of a term.

PECTORAL, FOR THE RAPID CURE OF Colds, Coughs, and Hoarseness.

BRIMPIKLD, MASS., 20th Dec., 1855.

BRIMPIELD, MASS., 20th Dec., 1855.
DR. J. C. ATER: I do not hesitate to say the best remedy I have ever found for Coughs, Hoarseness, Influenza, and the concomitant symptoms of a Cold, is your CREEKT PECTORAL. Its constant use in my practice and my family for the last ten years has shown it to possess superior virtues for the treatment of these complaints. EBEN KNIGHT, M. D. A. B. MORTLEY, Esq., of Urica. N. Y., writes: "I have need your Peterral myself and in my family ever since, you invented it, and believe it the test medicine for its purpose ever put out. With a bad cold I should some pay twenty-five dollars for a bottle than do without it, or take any other remedy."

THE sciences of Chemistry and Medicine have been taxed their names to produce this best, most perfect purgative which is known to man. Innumerable proofs are shown that these Pills have virtues which surpass in excellence the ordinary medicines, and that they win na-precedentedly upon the esteem of all men. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. Their pene-trating properties stimulate the vital activities of the body, remove the obstructions of its organs, purify the blood remove the contractions of its organs, purity the blood, and 65pol disease. They purge out the foul humors which breed and grow distemper, stimulate suggists or disordered organs into their natural action, and import healthy tone with strength to the whole system. Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of every body, but also formidate and dangerous diseases that have buffled the best of human skill. While they produce powerful effects, they are at the same time, in diminished deses, the safest and best physic that can be employed for children. Being augar-coated, they are pleasant to take; and being urely vegetable, are free from any risk of harm. Cures have been made which surpass bettef were they not sub stantisted by men of such exalted position and character as to forbid the suspicion of untruth. Many eminent clergymen and physiclas, s have lent their names to certify to the public the reliability of my remedies, white others have sent me the assurance of their conviction that my Preparations contribute immensely to the retief of my afflicted, suffering fellow-men.

The Agent below samed is pleased to furnish gratis my American Alman.s., containing directions for their use and cortificates of their cures, of the following complaints: certificates of their curse, of the following complaints:—
